

Training Annual Report

NOPD agrees to document all training provided to or received by NOPD officers, whether required or otherwise. Officers shall sign an acknowledgment of attendance or digitally acknowledge completion of training. NOPD shall report training delivered and received annually. This report shall include a:

- a) Description of each course, including a summary of the subject matter; the duration, date and location, the name of the instructor, and the number of persons who completed the training; and
- b) Listing of all officers who completed in-service, recruit, specialized, or elective training; and
- c) Listing of officers who did not complete required training and the corrective action taken for each officer. [Consent Decree ¶288]

The purpose of this report is to provide the training delivered to all recruits and New Orleans Police Department officers in the past year. This includes training provided directly by the Department's Municipal Training Academy (Academy) as well as specialized and elective trainings provided by other Units and/or outside entities. Due to limitations to within the current Academy training database, which contains data on all recruit and officer trainings, Consent Decree paragraphs 288(b) and 288(c) cannot be completed at this time. While the current training database does capture all training each officer attended, it cannot provide a listing of all ,the training an officer was required to attend, meaning that it cannot provide the list of officers who did not complete the required training.

However, to remedy this limitation, the City of New Orleans (City) is currently in negotiations with a software provider to provide a training database, which will electronically track, maintain, and report complete and accurate records of current training curricula, lesson plans, training delivered, course description, date and location of training, and instructor names. Importantly, it will also allow the Academy to document officers who did not complete training and all corrective actions taken to remedy accountability measures. Further, officers will be able to electronically acknowledge completion of training. The implementation of this centralized electronic document system not only simplifies the Academy's retention of training records, but also satisfies Consent Decree paragraphs 286 and 288. The centralized electronic document system will fluidly provide all information contained within that system into the Early Warning System, currently in development, which is also required by the Consent Decree and will further facilitate compliance of the tracking of officer training records.

Training and Policy Development

The Academy made great strides in training recruits and officers within 2014, with the introduction of a new recruit class (Class No. 170), a renewed emphasis on supervisory training, the introduction of Body Worn Cameras, with correlated training and development of training based upon revised Departmental policies. Both policy development and correlating updated training are key components of the Consent Decree, with over 80 paragraphs of the Consent Decree dedicated to training. To facilitate compliance, the Compliance Bureau is working with the OCDM and the Academy by reviewing all applicable Consent Decree paragraphs; reviewing, developing, and updating policies and updating the training curriculum to reflect these policies; identifying both gaps and strengths within the Academy's training, and documenting compliance; monitoring and analyzing current training, including: lesson plans and curriculum, instructors, and methods of instruction; locating Adjunct Instructors with subject matter expertise; and identifying new resources for training – all based on new policies, Consent Decree requirements and identified best case practices in law enforcement training through accredited resources.

Training of recruits and officers in 2014 included 45 training modules, including, but not limited to: Basic Training for Recruit Class #170 (27 recruits, each with over 900 training hours); In-Service Training for Supervisors and Patrol Officers (1039 officers, each with 40 training hours); In-Service Training for Executive Staff (29 officers, each with 3 training hours); New Detective Training (67 officers, each with 24 training hours); New Sergeant Training (33 officers, each with approximately 40 training hours); Body Worn Camera Training (526 officers, each with approximately 50 training hours); Field Training Officer (FTO) Certification (59 officers, each with 40 training hours); FTO Sergeants' Training (8 officers, with 40 training hours); and Lesson Plan Development (35 officers, each with 3 training hours).¹ Notably, two additional recruit classes have followed Class No. 170 and NOPD looks forward to maintaining this pace moving forward.

Additional trainings attended by officers within the Department's Sex Crimes and Domestic Violence Units focused on sexual assault and domestic violence include: The New Orleans Sexual Assault Best Practices Conference (sponsored by the New Orleans Family Justice Center, December 3-5, 2014, attended by 33 officers); The Law Enforcement Training and Capacity Building Project on Sexual Assault Response, Investigation and Interview/Interrogation (sponsored by the Oregon State Sexual Assault Task Force, November 17-19, 2014, attended by 21 officers). While these trainings were excellent and well-attended, they are by no means considered comprehensive trainings on sexual assault and domestic violence training. In addition to the creation of the Sexual Assault Task Force, multiple trainings for recruits and officers (at all levels) pertaining to both sexual assault and domestic violence, implemented by both the Academy and the City in conjunction with the Department, have occurred in 2015 and are ongoing.

Lastly, the Department's Training Policy is under review and is being updated to reflect both Consent Decree and Departmental requirements. Further, policies that are reflected in training that have been revised in line with Consent Decree include: Domestic Violence; Sexual Assault; Use of Force; Body Worn Cameras; In Car Cameras; Canines; Vehicle Pursuits; Profiling – Immigration Status; Complaint Investigation; Mental Illness; Control Devices and Techniques; Firearms Training; and Weapons Training. While all of these policies have been revised, not all have been officially approved by the OCDM and DOJ, although the Department is awaiting approval on its submitted policies. Training on these revised policies is ongoing and continual as they are approved and adopted.

As the Compliance Bureau moves forward with revising policies and supporting the Academy with updated training, strong working relationships based on trust and transparent communication have been forged with the OCDM and the Academy. The Compliance Bureau will continue to work with the OCDM and Academy to develop additional programs and, perhaps most importantly, develop valid and measureable mechanisms to identify the need for further improvements regarding recruit and In-Service training and the means to address those needs according to the requirements of the Consent Decree.
